

Shanghai Lixin University of Accounting and Finance

Founded 60 years ago, Shanghai Lixin University of Accounting and Finance (SLUAF) specializes in developing graduates in management for the rapidly expanding financial industry. It has earned the name "Cradle of Future Financial Experts." SLUAF has more than 8,000 full-time students from 23 provinces in mainland China, Hong Kong, Macao and Taiwan, with whom you will study. Every year about 400 foreign students from around the world are enrolled at SLUAF. Located in Shanghai's new Pudong District, SLUAF is near other universities and many multinational corporations.

Fields of Study: One semester or full academic year in International Finance, International Trade, Economics, Accounting and Marketing. Courses in Mandarin Chinese (required) and Chinese Studies are also offered. See the full course offering on our website.

Accommodation: You will live in Single Room at SLUAF's International Exchange Center on the campus. Rooms conform to international student dorm standards.

Program Fee: $8,800 per semester, including single-occupancy accommodation. Estimated additional expenses: International Airfare (round trip) $1,200-1,600; Meals (on campus) $1,000-$1,400; Application fee: $25; Miscellaneous $650.

Application Deadline: November 1 for Spring semester; April 15 for Fall semester.

Excursions: In Shanghai, you can visit the historic Bund, the Shanghai Museum, with its outstanding collections of Chinese art, and the 400-year-old Yu Gardens. Farther afield, you can visit Suzhou with its world-famous gardens; Hangzhou, home of the West Lake; and the unchanged river towns of neighboring Zhejiang province. You will also spend one week visiting other cities in China.
